

40 Most Influential Rochesterians – July/August 2010
Rochester Magazine

Adam C. McFadden: City Councilman. An accountant by training, he's the executive director of Quad A for Kids, a nonprofit agency that runs a variety of programs for city youth. A Democrat, he has also been the president of the 19th Ward Association. He's the most senior member of City Council, but it's his outspokenness and advocacy for the disenfranchised that have maximized his influence.

Printed with permission from the Democrat and Chronicle Media Group and Rochester Magazine. Please visit their website at www.democratandchronicle.com